IRVINE, CA – Avrio Biopharmaceuticals, LLC, a premier pharmaceutical manufacturing and development organization announces the addition of David A. Gelber as the Director of Manufacturing. Mr. Gelber will be responsible for streamlining and enhancing Avrio's quality production systems and ensuring clients receive high quality service in a timely manner.

"We are excited to have David join Avrio. He is passionate about serving our customers and dedicated to operational excellence," said CEO and Founder, Dr. Assad J. Kazeminy. "David's experience and leadership skills exhibit our commitment to scientific excellence, leading-edge resources, and dependable customer care,"

Mr. Gelber has over 25 years of experience with production and project management, and has demonstrated knowledge of all areas of aseptic pharmaceutical manufacturing. David has extensive experience serving as the manufacturing and operations head for both contract and commercial manufacturing operations. His previous work experience includes serving as the Director of Operations for AAI Development Services, as well as holding a similar sales and management role for B. Braun Medical, Inc.

"David offers our clients solutions to their problems and peace of mind that we'll deliver as promised and we are confident that the future for Avrio is very promising," said Yvonne Verburgt, Vice President of Business Development and Marketing.
